Part I Reading Comprehension (2* 20 points)

Passage 1

Some people argue that the pressure on international sportsmen and sportswomen kills the essence of sport—the pursuit of personal excellence. Children kick a football around for fun. When they get older and play for local school teams, they will become competitive but they still enjoy playing. The individual representing his country cannot afford to think about enjoying himself, and he has to think only about winning. He is responsible for the entire nation's hopes, dreams and reputation.

A good example is the FIFA World Cup. Football is the third most important sport in the world. Winning the World Cup is perhaps the summit of international sporting success. Mention Argentina to someone and the chances are that he'll think of football. In a sense, winning the World Cup put Argentina, on the map,

Some sports fans and supporters get quite unreasonable about the World Cup. People in England felt that their country was somehow important after they won in 1966. In 1978, thousands of the Scots sold their cars, and even their houses, and spent all their money traveling to Argentina, where the finals were played.

So, am I arguing that international competition kills the idea of sport? Certainly not! Do the Argentinean really believe that because eleven of their men proved the most skillful at football, their nation is in every way better than all others? Not really. But it's nice to know that you won and that in one way at least your country is the best.

1. What is the author's main purpose in the passage?

- A. To explain the role of sport.

5. What is the author's attitude towards international games?

B. Nations that win the World Cup are regarded as best in all aspects.

C. Nations that win in international games prove the best on the sports field at least.

D. Nations that give much attention to international competitions are world-famous in many ways.

Passage 2.

For years and years people have been saying that the railways are dead. "We can do without railways, people say, as if motorcars and planes made the railways unnecessary. We all keep hearing that trains are slow, that they lose money, and that they're dying. But this is far from the truth. In these days when oil is expensive, the railways have become highly competitive with motorcars and planes. If you want to carry people or goods from place to place, they're cheaper than planes.

Railways have much in common with planes. A plane goes in a straight line and so does a railway. What is more, it takes you from the heart of a city into the heart of another. But a railway doesn't leave you as a plane does, miles and miles away from the city center. It doesn't hold you up as a motorcar does, in endless traffic jams. And a single train can carry goods which no plane or motorcar could ever do.

Far from being dead, the railways are very much alive. Modern railway lines give you a smooth, untroubled journey. Where else can you eat well, sleep in comfort, feel safe and enjoy the scene while you are traveling at speed at the same time? And we are only at the beginning. We have entered the age of superfast trains, traveling at 150 miles an hour and more. Soon we will be wondering why spend so much on motorways we can't use because we don't have enough money to buy oil and planes we can't fly for the same reason.

D. No motorcar or plane can carry as many goods as a train does in a cheap way.

Passage 3

The way people hold to the belief that a fun-filled, pain free life equals happiness actually reduces their chances of ever attaining real happiness. If fun and pleasure are equal to happiness then pain must be equal to unhappiness. But in fact, the opposite is true: more often than not things that lead to happiness involve some pain.

As a result, many people avoid the very attempts that are the source of true happiness. They fear the pain inevitably brought by such things as marriage, raising children, professional achievement, religious commitment, self-improvement.

Ask a bachelor why he resists marriage even though he finds dating to be less and less satisfying. If he is honest he will tell you that he is afraid of making a commitment. For commitment is in fact quite painful. The single life is filled with fun, adventure, excitement. Marriage has such moments, but they are not its most distinguishing features.

Couples with infant children are lucky to get a whole night's sleep or a three-day vacation. I don't know any parent who would choose the word fun to describe raising children. But couples who decide not to have children ever know the joys of watching a child grow up or of playing with a grandchild.

Understanding and accepting that true happiness has nothing to do with fun is one of the most liberating realizations. It liberates time: now we can devote more hours to activities that can genuinely increase our happiness. It liberates money: buying that new car or those fancy clothes that will do nothing to increase our happiness now seems pointless. And it liberates us from envy: we now understand that all those who are always having so much fun actually may not be happy at all.

11. According to the author, a bachelor resists marriage chiefly because ____.

- A. he is reluctant to take on family responsibilities
- B. he believes that life will be more cheerful if he remains single
- C. he finds more fun in dating than in marriage
- D. he fears it will put an end to all his fun adventure and excitement

12. Raising children, in the author's opinion, is ____.

- A. a moral duty
- B. a thankless job
- C. a rewarding task
- D. a source of inevitable pain

13. From the last paragraph, we learn that envy sometimes stems from ____.

- A. hatred
- B. misunderstanding
- C. prejudice
- D. ignorance

14. To understand what true happiness is one must ____.

- A. have as much fun as possible during one's lifetime.
- B. make every effort to liberate oneself from pain.
- C. put up with pain under all circumstances.
- D. be able to distinguish happiness from fun.

15. What is the author trying to tell us?

- A. Happiness often goes hand in hand with pain.
- B. One must know how to attain happiness.
- C. It is important to make commitments.
- D. It is pain that leads to happiness.

Passage 4

Everyone knows that laziness is a sin. We have probably all had lectures pointing out that laziness is immoral, wasteful, and that lazy people will never amount to anything in life. But laziness can be more harmful than that, and it is often caused by more complex reasons than simple wishes to avoid work. Some people who appear to be lazy are suffering from much more serious problems. They may be so distrustful of their fellow workers that they are unable to join in any group task for fear of ridicule or for fear of having their ideas stolen. These people who seem lazy may be paralyzed (丧失活动能力的) by a fear of failure that prevents fruitful work. Or other sorts of fantasies may prevent work; some people are so busy planning, sometimes planning great deals or fantastic achievements, that they are unable to deal with whatever "lesser" work is on hand. Still other people are not avoiding work; strictly speaking, they are merely procrastinating (拖延) rescheduling their day.

Laziness can actually be helpful. Like procrastinators, some people may look lazy when they are really thinking, planning, contemplating (深思) and researching. We all should remember that some great scientific discoveries occurred by chance or while some were "goofing off" (磨洋工). Newton wasn't working in the orchard when the apple hit him and he discovered the law of universal gravitation. Sometimes, being "lazy"—that is, taking time off for a rest—is good for overworked students or executives. Taking a rest can be particularly helpful to the athlete who trying too hard or the doctor who's simply working himself overtime too many evenings at the clinic. So be careful when you are tempted to call someone lazy. That person may be thinking, resting, or planning his or her next book.

16. The underlined word "that" in the First paragraph refers to "_____".

- A. laziness is immoral
- B. laziness is wasteful
- C. lazy people will never amount to anything in life
- D. all of the above

17. The first paragraph is mostly devoted to the discussion of _____.

18. According to the second paragraph, being "lazy" is good for _____.

- A. a student who is on holiday
- B. a doctor who is working overtime
- C. an executive who is on leave
- D. an athlete who is not training

19. The tone of the passage is _____.

- A. Cautious
- B. careless
- C. optimistic
- D. pessimistic

20. What does the writer intend to tell us in the passage?

- A. Laziness is definitely a sin.

Part II True or False (2*5 points)

Sometimes you'll hear people say that you can't love others until you love yourself. Sometimes you'll hear people say that you can't expect someone else to love you until you love yourself. Either way, you've got to love yourself first and this can be tricky. Sure we all know that we're the apple of our parents' eyes, and that our grandmas think we are great talents and our uncle Roberts think that we will go to the Olympics, but sometimes it's a lot harder to think such nice thoughts about ourselves. If you find that believing in yourself is a challenge, it is time you built a positive self-image and learn to love yourself.

The self-image is your own mind's picture of yourself. This image includes the way you look, the way you act, the way you talk and the way you think. Interestingly, our self-images are often quite different from the images others hold about us. Unfortunately, most of these self-images are more negative than what they should be, and thus changing the way you think about yourself is the key to changing your self-image and your whole world.

The best way to defeat a passive self-image is to step back and decide to stress your successes. That is, make a list if you need to, and write down all of the great things you do every day. Don't allow doubts to occur in it.

It might well be that you are experiencing a negative self-image because you can't move past one flaw or weakness that you see about yourself. Well, roll up your sleeves and make a change of it as your primary task. If you think you are silly because you aren't good at math, find a tutor. If you think you are weak because you can't run a mile, get to the track and practice. If you think you are dull because you don't follow the latest trends, buy a few new clothes.

The best way to get rid of a negative self-image is to realize that your image is far from objective and to actively convince yourself of your positive qualities. Changing the way you think and working on those you need to improve will go a long way towards promoting a positive self-image. When you can pat yourself on the back, you'll know you're well on your way.

( )41. We can conclude that both adolescents and parents are the intended readers of the passage.

( )42. You need to build a positive self-image when you feel it hard to change yourself

( )43. According to the passage, our self-image are probably untrue.

( )44. If you want to change your self image, you should change the way you think.

( )45. The passage mainly talks about how to build a positive self-image.

Nowadays, shopping had become a topic of heated debate in the society. Views on this issue vary from person to person.

Some people regard shopping as a hobby. Through shopping during the busy life, they can find and buy something attractive which can make themselves happy. They believe shopping is very interesting. However, others just think shopping is a task to buy basic necessities. They believe going shopping always takes up too much time and energy and this activity is boring and tiring.

In my opinion, I think shopping rationally can enrich our life and sometimes it even reshapes our way of life. Besides, with the rapid development of information and technology, online shopping has been a fashion. There is no doubt that online shopping has shortened the time we spend in shopping. All in all, I think if we shop properly, shopping really can enhance our sense of happiness.
